

Choosing Which Forms to Use

Making a Support or Support Variation Application Outside New Brunswick

Introduction

New Brunswick has reciprocal agreements with most Canadian provinces and territories, and with several foreign countries. These are ‘reciprocating jurisdictions’. This means that New Brunswick and each of the ‘reciprocating jurisdictions’ have agreed to recognize each other's family support (maintenance) laws.

The New Brunswick law about reciprocity is the Interjurisdictional Support Orders Act, which is called ‘ISO’ as a short form. Each of the reciprocating jurisdictions has similar ISO laws.

Using ISO, you can apply for a support order in one of the reciprocating jurisdictions without having to go there. You can also apply to change an existing support order. A person in one of the reciprocating jurisdictions can do the same thing. The person making the application does not usually have to go to court – the respondent (the person in the reciprocating jurisdiction) goes to court to respond to the application.

There are several forms available for applications using the ISO laws. Not all of the forms are needed for every application. By answering a few questions, you can pick the forms that you need.

1. Where does the other person (the respondent) live? _____

2. Is this a ‘reciprocating jurisdiction’?

Look at the list in the box below. If the respondent lives in one of the reciprocating jurisdictions, go on to the next question. If your answer is ‘no’, you cannot use ISO laws.

Reciprocating Jurisdictions (see the Interjurisdictional Support Orders Regulation for the official list of Reciprocating Jurisdictions and included territories)
In Canada All Canadian Provinces and Territories In the United States of America All US States, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, Guam, American Samoa, and the US Virgin Islands In the United Kingdom England, Scotland, Northern Ireland, Isle of Man In Europe Austria, Germany, Poland	In Asia Singapore In Australia New South Wales, Queensland, South Australia, Tasmania, Victoria and Western Australia Others Australia New Zealand Fiji Bermuda Trinidad and Tobago

3. What are you applying for? Which of these statements applies to you?

- I want to get an order for support for children, and/or myself. I do not have an order or written agreement that deals with support. Fill out Section A on this page.
- I want to change an order or agreement that deals with support for children and/or myself. I am the person who receives support in the order or agreement I have now. Fill out Section B on this page.
- I want to change or cancel the support in an order or agreement I have now. I am the person who is required to pay support in the order or agreement I have now. Fill out Section C on the next page.
- I want to change or cancel the support in my Divorce order. (If this statement applies to you, you cannot use ISO laws for your application. The Divorce Act is a federal law and it has its own rules. Please get legal advice on how to change or cancel the support in your Divorce order. Legal Aid services may be available.)
